

I oppose this narrow view (contested cases) of the right to petition the judiciary by setting forth legislation that excludes the public which water rights belong. The public should not be shutout by legislation from seeking injunction and-or review of a final order by the Water Resource Commission.