This seems like the right thing to do