

Beavers are an extremely important part of our ecosystem and we should do everything to protect them. They are create habitats in streams that are important to salmon and many other species. We should not be killing beavers.