

This bill as currently written may seem innocuous, but private schools are already beholden to good behavior with existing laws and accreditation standards, so it is unnecessary.