

The people elect our representatives to do their job. We have a representative democracy with certain agreed rules of behavior to prevent the tyranny of the one group l've another. If you demonstrate willful disregard for the rules you should not be allowed to hold office again.