

I am writing in opposition to SJR4. Unless rules are changed that bring both sides to the table and bills are not allowed to be passed on party line votes walking out is the minority party's only option. This is them doing their jobs to their fullest extent and listening to the begging of their constituents. Please either change the rules to 2/3rd votes (atleast for anything not put on the ballot) or figure out some other way to not flex your majority power muscles and reach across the isle at all times.

Thank you
