

I am a resident of West Linn. In my neighborhood, I have seen coyotes on numerous occasions. I know that there were coyotes in this area long before humans arrived. Long after I am dead, I still hope that their are coyotes in the area. This has historically been their home and I hope it will always be their home. Humans must learn to live in harmony with wildlife instead of treating wildlife as pest that must be eliminated.