

The words you will read, submitted by many can not begin to let you feel the thoughts and concerns of many. With regards to the your approval for this economic recovery plan. The crisis that our country, our economy and the emotional state of our population is beyond description. We the people need an escape, a place to temporarily leave this disaster behind us. Clear our minds of the sorrows and the fears we are experiencing from this last year. Leave our unsettled and struggling atmosphere of home and let something take us away for a while. The theaters can do that. They always have. They can create joy, laughter, family time together. A place to go. Put away all the electronics and the worries, walk in, get some popcorn, sit down and let the screen give your mind a few hours of reprieve from all the concerns outside. Our country needs a new direction. What has happened to honestly taking care of that direction. There is no one who should loose their livelihood or their financial stability or all they have worked for and saved for- because of something called Covid. Our economy should be of grave concern and doing what it takes to bring that back should be a logical priority. Bring back hope for people. We just can not keep allowing jobs to go away, business to close. Buildings sitting empty means a lot of people out of work- it is a trickle effect of disaster. Like a cancer eating away at an economy that can no longer take care of itself. Help where you can please. Put your heart into your thoughts. Wear their shoes. Remember what we have lost and do all you can to restore that. America needs to be great again.
