

We need to be practicing sustainable practices and regenerative agriculture.
Mega dairy farms do neither. They pollute the air and threaten our water supply.
They put small farmers, who have much less impact on our air and water, out of business.
Cows emit significant amounts of methane, which is a worse pollutant than carbon.
They also fill lagoons with waste that threatens our water supplies.
They produce more manure than is feasible to use on fields.
Please uphold the moratorium on building/permitting any more of these giant dairy farms.
They destroy the quality of life for neighboring communities, and they threaten our air and water.
