

I am a resident of Oregon. The Columbia River is suffering from low water many years, and has well-documented decreasing Salmon and Steelhead runs. I am in favor of a moratorium on any new industrial scale dairy farms. The water demands from such a plant are simply too much for the environment to support. The methane emitted by these cows contributes to climate change. This is not "clean industry". I support a prohibition against the Dept. of Environmental Quality and State Dept of Agriculture from issuing or renewing and licenses or permits that would allow industrial dairies in the Boardman area.

Bryan Sohl MD
Boar Member, WaterWatch of Oregon