

I oppose construction of any new dairy operations primarily due to the negative environmental impacts it would have upon the land and water systems that would surround it. Time and time again, shown throughout the country, these megadairy operations pollute waterways, the water table, and are the cause of greenhouse gases that pollute our air. They use far too many resources for little gain and harm the public in the process.