

Campaign Finance Reform is the most important action we can take to save our democracy. The systemic problems we face like Climate Change, and Environmental Justice and the priority of good working class jobs all rely on people who can understand the challenges and struggles of regular working people. I strongly support this bill and others that address this issue. We must reign in the money that flows and influences at least some of our politicians. We must make it clear that they work for us, not for corporate agendas.

I ultimately support public finance of elections. I would actually go further and say I would like to see an upper limit of personal wealth allowable to any person running for public office. Thanks you for an opportunity to testify on this important issue.
