

We can not risk the safety of our communities as we are trying to heal from this global pandemic. We need to take seriously the nature of this zoonotic disease by recognizing it's roots in animal agriculture and taking time to reflect and prevent further outbreaks from occurring.