

Chair Helm and members of the committee,
I'm Clair Klock from Corbett, OR and testified yesterday on HB 2594. I heard in further discussion about rules that are claimed to be in place and read -2 and -3. Has it occurred to the legislator that if this is true, but both staff and manager and agency heads may be reluctant to enforce the rules because they may lose their job. Industry, agency board members and organizations hit these folks from all sides and it may take the legislature to get those rules moving as they should. Incidentally, it has been my experience observe huge numbers of agencies meeting that most agencies are getting the idea of cooperation and streamline procedures and processes that reduce waste.
Just something to consider. Thank you
