

Thank you thank you thank you! This is the most critical measure to reduce recycling contamination I have ever seen. I have been following the Committee work to study and address the current state of Oregon recycling since I took the Corvallis Master Recycling Class. The China decision has made these actions so vital. Having a common Oregon standard will provide such clarity for the homeowners; as well as a framework for providing accountability and funds for all levels of recycling handling, from production to sorting to the the MRFs. It is bold and transformative. We will all benefit from the implementation!
