

I oppose this measure. If electricity is a better method to power our lives, people will move that direction on their own. The impacts of this far reaching legislation would be incredibly detrimental to rural Oregon citizens,, many of whom don't even have good internet access yet. Lets take a step back and get our communities healthy first so that we can work together to build a better Oregon. Your plan may be good for urban area's where there is the density to support a rapid conversion, but it doesn't work out here, and frankly would drive up costs for energy to unaffordable rates for citizens and create business expenses that diminish our ability to compete with neighboring States in manufacturing and more.
