

The Portland Children Museum is valuable on rainy days for children and families to learn and play. Please consider investing in not only rescuing the museum, but making it more stellar, rivaling the amazing Oklahoma City's Children's Science Museum's fantasy-like interactive displays, OMSI's hands-on exhibits and activities, and St. Louis, Missouri's City museum's chutes and tunnels, and Tulsa, Oklahoma's Gathering Place, a public green space with various forms of playgrounds for both children and adults, Portland will have so much revenue, money that can go back to the community- to those most in need!
