

Please continue to support the OSU Extension Service. My husband Doug Rasmussen and I manage a 66-acre property, much of which lies within the flood plain of the South Yamhill River. For nearly twenty years, we have removed invasive species and planted native trees and shrubs, with advice from the Extension Service and its publications. The property mitigates frequent flooding and hosts a healthy population of wildlife and birds. We depend on the information we can find at the Extension Office. Thanks.
