

Hi my name is Mary, and I would like to tell you about my son Ayric and how his online schooling has effected him. My son has dealt with medical problems almost his whole life not to mention a couple of traumas. This has caused severe PTSD, anxiety, panic attacks and depression. Due to these circumstances he has missed a ton of school and then by 4th grade he was unable to step outside to even try to go. Midway through his 5th grade year we realized that physically go to school would not be an option and that he was a whole another school year behind. After going to our school district's Administration and not receiving the help we hoped to get we felt helpless. By this point he should have been 2 months into his 6th grade year, Ayric had not be in or had done school for almost 1.5 years. With the district's denial in hand we looked into ALL other options some of which were charter schools and private. No one had room for Ayric or a program that could work with him. So we turned to online schooling and researched how it worked. That's when I found Metro East Web Academy!! I called and talk to them and they were everything my son had needed! They didn't care that he was behind and that he needed extra help the Curriculum was set around his skill level to start. They are super flexible with their schedule so Ayric could attend therapy and doctors appointments and not feel overwhelmed. I just really wish i would have turned to Online School sooner. What once was a nightmare for my son is now a positive experience.
