

Remote access has been one good thing that came out of pandemic isolation. This increases the chance that someone who wants to can gain access. We should maintain this even after most people are able to gather in person.