

Allowing remote hearings is a simple and powerful approach to creating more equitable access to our legislative process and ensuring more voices are heard. It has also been proven to work during the pandemic.