

The only way to control predator numbers and keep them in balance is to ethically hunt them. These competitions raise a ton of money for local businesses, foundations, and wildlife in general.