

Alternative therapies like reiki, and others included in this bill help support people on a spiritual level. I don't believe the government has a place in regulating this.