

In my years of recovery from drug addiction and trauma, access to what people call "alternative healing" has been the most influential in my recovery. This legislation would keep people from getting help they need and limit income for many who genuinely offer true care for people. I sincerely hope that Oregon does not take this route of limiting such resources. I absolutely believe it will cause immeasurable harm. The question should be, how do we support people, not how can we limit more.