

The people of this state have the right to know what kind of malfeasance the people that they are paying to enforce laws get up to.

It's deeply embarrassing and weird that this is even being debated. This bill is the absolute bare minimum in terms of police reform and should not be controversial. If the legislature can't pass this, after all of the horrible acts perpetrated by Oregon police officers this past year and the decades before that, what are y'all even doing??
