

This will allow for better distribution of funds and has potential to greatly affect people struggling from impoverished living conditions for the better.