

We are in a climate emergency, why is money being wasted on studies like this and not ways to reduce emission goals? There is no time to be frivolous in the middle of a crisis. Focus on what is most essential to keep our city green, speed bump height can wait.