

To try to retro tax the very individuals and businesses who have shown up everyday and provided the very revenue stream to the State that the reps now want to squander and redirect to the public sector ,such as education, that has not shown up or done any of the things that they are paid to do, paid whether they show up or not, is morally wrong at every level. The revenue is not needed. The revenue will be squandered. The revenue will never be enough. The revenue does exponentially more good left in the private sector
