

The continuous war on small business by adding more taxes in one of the more challenging years. When the state government is rolling in money from the federal stimulus.