

In my considered opinion, there is no need to change existing laws regarding the voting process.