

The Willamette is used for recreation by far more citizens than just those with waterfront property. Kids make memories when tubing and water skiing, and it is simply good clean fun for the family. There is no need to legislate waves.