

Video proof shows that Representative Mike Nearman opened Oregon capital building doors to let in violent protesters and therefore willfully put others in the building with total disregard for their safety and with no regard for their what others in the building rights or wishes were. Mr. Nearman therefore took it upon himself to stand with a group of people not there out of desperation, or hunger, or lacking shelter, or whose civil rights had been grossly curtailed, but where their as a angry mob because they strongly disagreed with what the legislature and I'm sure also what Oregon's governor was doing that had little to do with preserving the protesters liberty or life and limb. Thank you for reading this.
