

With all that is happening in the world today. The river has been our only saving grace. With the Black Live Matter movement this is one more thing that the rich white people are not allowing us to have access to. The river is not owned by the home owner it is meant to be used by everyone. Its truly sad that a small group of people can change the freedom of the water ways