

I am opposed to this bill.

Ophthalmology requires significantly more education and training and I simply would not trust that an optometrist would do the job as well. Anything related to eyes is very risky and why take unnecessary risks?