

I do not think that insurance companies should be allowed to use credit score without consideration to other factors such as good driving records in determining insurance rates.