

This bill will blur the line between registration and voting. The elections office is already busy processing the election ballots. The universe of voters needs to be established well before Election Day to verify a voter's qualification.