

There are already background checks in place. Any further measures amount to taking away citizen's rights without cause. You don't take away someone's car because you think they might use it incorrectly, you only do after they have proven irresponsible. Innocent until proven otherwise.