

A police force is most effective when it has the trust and support of the general public. Allowing police to lie during interrogations of any form breaks that trust. This bill will start us going back in the right direction by preventing police from lying to minors in an effort to get the minor to say something, likely out of fear, they otherwise would not.