

My first teacher of Color was History Professor Barbara Fields, my sophomore year at the University of Michigan. She was a brilliant young Black woman in a sea of old white males, and I imagine she must have been incredibly courageous to win and keep her post. I have seen her interviewed on a Shelby Foote's documentary on TV; she is a national expert on Reconstruction. I support House Bill 2001.