

When I entered college, 1999, I was 49yrs old. I had my first teacher of color as a college junior. Loved her insights, made a profound impression on me. I had already realized I had no knowledge of what people of color were subject to, other than unfair policies and injustice enforced by mainly white laws, police and society in general. I support HB 2001.