

I think it is illegal to make laws against a person's lifestyle that the only reason they are causing cost is it not in our curriculum to uses drugs and function in orders that require attention. To say anyone getting a hair cute in the 5 years of time is causing some us to get distasteful and fear for hygiene to be inhabited with biohazards is a crime when in the culture we observe those rites of getting our hair cute every 3 months or sooner but if we say it is spreading a virus to uses thing that may cut your skin and cause aid then both hair cutes would be a crime. So who are we fooling here it is a job to get a job and much of it is a race and a fight of the fittest to keep the job or get the job some of us can't even compete with the battle of getting a job with no car. my mother is getting very handicap and I will have to risk driving from Corvallis to Salem three times a week back and forth so my mother can get the medical treatment she deserves. so i will have no license to drive but have to for my mother's own life and safety. my father is not in better shape but he has people to look out for him my mother has no one but me 30 miles a way with no car.
