

Climate Change with all of its devastating consequences should be more than obvious to everyone at this point and acting on it a no-brainer and critical to all who depend on this planet. Putting a national price on carbon is key. I am writing in support of the Energy Innovation Act and thank you for encouraging our Congress to take action now.