

There is no, I repeat no evidence that shutting down any business has had a positive effect on the spread of Covid. On the contrary, forced use of masks, segregation, distancing and all these other "emergency measures" has adversely limited the natural immunity that would naturally limit the spread and severity of infection as proven by annual flu epidemics. It is also immoral and maybe even illegal to classify all respiratory infections as Covid. There seems to be no cold or flu this year so numbers are false, misleading and totally inaccurate for using as an excuse to have an "emergency".
