

These devices have dangerous side effects, not only on protesters but on people who live and work in the area.