

I've spent many thousands of miles riding my motorcycle around the western United States. California allows lane splitting and it is truly a lifesaver. Automobile drivers not only expect motorcycles to Lane split, drivers actually encourage it by sliding slightly over when they know there's a motorcycle behind them. From a safety standpoint, there is no question for the motorcycle rider that the benefits outweigh any potential cost. It's incredibly uncomfortable riding a motorcycle in stop and go traffic. There are no fender benders if you're on a motorcycle. There's either no accident or a bad accident. Being able to lane split takes away the vast majority of those concerns. I strongly support this bill and encourage it to be passed.
