

I vote YES. Motorcycle engines can get Very hot while sitting still or idling in a traffic jam. Even with thick leather protective chaps, the heat still burns the thigh.

If this is approved, Oregon drivers need to be Well-educated that Motorcycles are allowed Right-of-Way, and to Expect Riders to be around them in heavy traffic conditions.