

When traffic is so slow, you overheat both the bike and yourself, it would be great to lane share and keep the temperature down. As well as being efficient, lane sharing also seems safer than being rear-ended.