

I support lane splitting, after motorcycle riding in places where lane splitting is legal I feel having another option to keep myself away from the rear of slowed or stopped traffic comforting. Not having to worry about getting hit from behind made paying attention to what's ahead even more of a priority.