BACKGROUND:

Laws in states such as Washington, Colorado, and Michigan structure school board member compensation per day that the director or member attends board meetings or conducts board business (RCW 28A.343.600, Colorado HB21-1055, MCL 380.621). California code limits board member compensation per month based on daily attendance in the district, and only permits members who attend all meetings to receive compensation (California EDC 35120).

HB 2753 permits district school boards to provide members with a stipend of up to $1,000 per month, or to reimburse expenses incurred in the performance of duties. Declares emergency, effective July 1, 2023.
