ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

A surety bond is a promise by a bonding company to pay all or a portion of a Construction Contractors Board (CCB) final order if a contractor fails to pay the order in order to protect consumers. A property owner can file a CCB complaint against a contractor for breach of contract or improper work. If the CCB orders a contractor to pay money to the complainant, the contractor must pay as ordered. If the contractor does not do so, the bonding company will pay the money owed, up to the amount of the bond. An original Construction Contractors Board residential or commercial bond is required. The type depends on the contractor's endorsement. Contractors who are endorsed to do both residential and commercial work must have both a residential and a commercial surety bond.

Current surety bond requirements are:

Residential bonds

- Residential general contractor: $20,000
- Residential specialty contractor: $15,000
- Residential limited contractor: $10,000
- Residential developer: $20,000
- Home services contractor: $10,000
- Residential locksmith services contractor: $10,000
- Home inspector services contractor: $10,000
- Home performance score contractor: $10,000

Commercial bonds

- Commercial General Contractor Level 1: $75,000
- Commercial General Contractor Level 2: $20,000
- Commercial Specialty Contractor Level 1: $50,000
- Commercial Specialty Contractor Level 2: $20,000
- Commercial Developer: $20,000

House Bill 2922 increases surety bond amount required for all Construction Contractors Board licensed entities by $5000.
